

Access Protected B Communities Terms and Conditions

The following is the Terms and Conditions owners and members must accept when they access their protected B community:

Beginning of the Statement:

GCXchange: Protected B Communities - Terms and Conditions of Use

Please review your departmental security guidelines to ensure you are familiar with your responsibilities for handling Protected A and B documents before agreeing to the terms and conditions below. 'Protected B Community' refers to a GCXchange community that is authorized to store information classified as Unclassified, Protected A, and Protected B.

Security Requirements

To access a Protected B community, you must meet the following security requirements:

1. You must hold a valid Reliability security clearance or higher and have a legitimate business "need-to-know."
2. You must use a valid Government Managed Device to access GCXchange (e.g., a desktop computer, laptop, or tablet).
3. You may be required to pass a strong/two-factor Authentication prior to accessing a Protected B community. If, as part of your departmental login, you have already done so, you may not be prompted to do so again.

If you are unsure of these requirements, or you encounter issues completing MFA, contact your departmental security or IT team.

Roles and Responsibilities

For Owners:

1. Confidentiality: Posting, uploading, and storing personal information is not permitted in GCXchange. This includes any information of non-national interest, the compromise of which would reasonably be expected to cause injury to a person or non-national interest (e.g., home addresses, phone numbers, social insurance numbers, and performance evaluations).
2. Security: You must ensure the security of all information uploaded, posted, and shared within your community. Information must not be shared with users who are not Owners or Members of your community.
3. Community Management: Owners are responsible for managing access to the community. Only users with a business need to the information should be included in the community. You must review the membership on a regular basis and remove members who have changed roles or responsibilities.
4. Two Owners: There must be at least two community owners at all times. GCXchange monitors all Protected B communities to ensure they have two Owners.

5. Document Retention: GCXchange is a transitory platform. Information stored in SharePoint, that has not been modified in two (2) years, is automatically deleted. It is the responsibility of community members to move any documents of business value to their department's official repository.
6. Granting Access to GCXchange Support: GCXchange Support does not have access to Protected B communities. If direct assistance is needed, it is the Owner's responsibility to grant access to the Support Team and to remove it when the issue has been resolved.
7. Prohibited Actions: Owners must not change the settings of a Protected B community from Private to Public. GCXchange monitors all communities and automatically switches any Public community back to Private.
8. Deleting Communities: Once a community has fulfilled its business purpose, Owners are encouraged to delete it. Only the Owner has the ability to delete a community. If a community is deleted by mistake, the Owner has 14 days to request recovery through the GCXchange Support Team. After this period, the community cannot be restored.

For Members:

1. Confidentiality: Posting, uploading, and storing personal information is not permitted in GCXchange. This includes any information of non-national interest, the compromise of which would reasonably be expected to cause injury to a person or non-national interest (e.g., home addresses, phone numbers, social insurance numbers, and performance evaluations).
2. Security: You must ensure the security of all information uploaded, posted, and shared within your community. Information must not be shared with users who are not Owners or Members of your community.
3. Document Retention: GCXchange is a transitory platform. Information stored in SharePoint, that has not been modified in two (2) years, is automatically deleted. It is the responsibility of community members to move any documents of business value to their department's official repository.
4. Leaving the Community: You agree to leave the community, or notify an owner of your community that you need to be removed, when your need-to-know the information ends, or if your role or responsibilities change.
